19th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Be . . . ready. (Luke 12:36) Are you ready? The servants in today's Gospel are—lamps lit, loins girt, waiting for their master's knock at the door. They know he will come sooner or later, so they don't sit around.

They make preparations, stay awake, and keep doing what they know they need to do to prepare. What a good analogy for our life of faith! Faith isn't just believing something abstract. It's about acting on what you believe. It's about taking the necessary steps that flow from your belief. It's a theme that's repeated in all of today's readings: being ready, looking forward with vigilance, waiting with faith. Faith is anything but passive.
