SCIENCE AND RELIGION..

For some, maybe even the majority of people, there exists a notion that you can not be a person of science and a person of faith, the 2 are incompatible. In reality there is no obstacle to being both, there may be conflicts and disagreements but truth will never contradict itself. 3 leading scientists of the 20th century were devout christians 1. George beauth, developed the Big Bang Theory, 2. Francis Collins ,director of the Geneode project 3. Pro Anthony Flew (Philosopher and one time atheist).

A LITTLE CATHOLIC HUMOUR.

A priest told his congregation " next week I plan to preach about the sin of lying. To help you understand my homily I want you all to read chapter 17 of Mark's Gospel" The following Sunday as he prepared to deliver his homily, he asked how many had read Mark 17. Everyone raised their hand. The Priest smiled and said , "Mark has only 16 chapters. I will now proceed with my sermon on the sin of lying"

|Contingency or Necessary Being

It is not necessary for anything in the world to exist at all. Anything animate or inanimate in the world can cease to exist at any time, whether by death or destruction. When something stops existing, the rest of the world keeps going. It is also true that nothing and no one exists forever. This would mean that in any point in time, it could be possible that all unnecessary things could go out of existence, but that has not happened. Therefore, there is a necessary being on which the existence of things is contingent, or dependent. In other words, the reason the world hasn't just vanished by now is because God, the one necessary being, continues to hold it in existence.

SOME SAINTLY ADVICE TO LIVE BY: UNANSWERED PRAYERS.

So blind are we in this mortal life, and so unaware of what will happen—so uncertain even of how we will think tomorrow—that God could not take vengeance on a man more easily in this world than by granting his own foolish wishes. (St Thomas Moore)
